The Imperfect Messenger Foundation acknowledges Judge Andrew P. Napolitano!

Santa Rosa, Ca – July 30, 2010 (TIMF): The Republican form of government is perhaps the supreme expression of man’s desire to institute and engage in the practices of self-government. Yet equal to the measure of its success and the need to prevent its tendency toward self-destruction, is the persistence required by people of stout courage, virtue and providential deference to be vigilant in assuring its preservation.

This Nations founding documents clearly intended and precisely defined the role and structure of government and elegantly expressed the same by way of the U.S. Constitution – not as a government of unlimited powers but specifically one of deliberate prohibitions and restrictive covenants. Today this once sacred document has been shattered by repeated miss-interpretations and outright defiance and few, scarcely grasp the absolute truth of this statement. Judge Andrew P. Napolitano, know for his personal probity, fortunately is one who does and is willing to express what others seem willing to ignore.

Foundation chairman Curtis Greco said, "By releasing this acknowledgment, The Imperfect Messenger Foundation has considered Judge Napolitano’s dedication to the mastery of his craft and his personal deference to the sacred Ideals implicit in the Federalist Papers, The Declaration of Independence and the U.S. Constitution and it is imperative that he be acknowledged as sui generis, in a class by himself. We feel that Judge Napolitano speaks brilliantly of/for the fundamentals integral to this Nations Ideals and in so doing, stands valiantly for the People whose ‘Unalienable Rights’ have no voice in what has become the hostile environment that is National and State government."
